Twist and paste with Wikki Stix

20 September 2012

Kids and parents can get creative with Wikki Stix.

Wikki Stix is now available in Malaysia. In case you haven't heard about it, Wikki Stix consists of waxed pieces of yarn that come in multicolours.

They can be twisted and stuck together or to a surface to help you and your children create objects, form letters of the alphabet, or even just for creative embellishments.

There are 27 colours and Wikki Stix comes in packs of six, eight or even 48.

It helps children express their creativity, use their imagination and think out of the box.

As the pieces are flexible, playing with Wikki Stix also helps with fine motor skills, in particular hand-eye coordination.

Every pack of Wikki Stix comes with suggestions on what to build.

For more information, videos and a list of local stockists, go to www.wikkistixasia.com.
